„The Science of Personal Empowerment in a World of Change

Read the news, surf the Web, or look out your window, and you will observe that civilization is in a world of crises. Crisis ignites evolution!

We are currently on the threshold of a major evolutionary upheaval: Civilization is currently facing an irreversible collapse because our way of life is completely unsustainable. Currently, to provide society's needs requires the resources of 1.6 planet Earths.

The good news in the bad news: A renaissance in frontier science provides knowledge of how we can personally navigate this dark passage and thrive into a healthier sustainable future. Research scientist and bestselling author Bruce H. Lipton, Ph.D., provides a unique paradigm-shifting synthesis of science, evolutionary theory, and spiritual consciousness that provides unique insight into our current chaotic situation and how we can happily and healthfully move forward into the future.

Bruce's illustrated and animated presentation designed for the lay audience unveils a revolutionary vision based on advances in quantum physics and epigenetics. The new science illuminates the mechanisms by which consciousness and developmental programming through age 7, control genetics, behavior, and how we create our life experiences. The knowledge offered in this program is truly the source of self-empowerment needed to thrive through this turbulent period in our planet's history. When awakening to our inherent power, the choices and opportunities to manifest a better life and a better world becomes our reality.
